St. Augustine's To Seek Funds

VERY REV. HENRY B. SMITH
Very Rev. Henry B. Smith, O.S.A., pastor of St. Augustine's Church, has announced receipt of final approval from the Arch Diocese in Boston for a parish-wide drive for funds for an addition to the school.

Fr. Smith said the details of the drive will be announced shortly after Easter.

The addition to St. Augustine's School will be nine rooms, approximately doubling the present building capacity.

There will also be an addition to the new convent, Fr. Smith announced.

Firm Gets Nod On Septic Tanks

The Realty Construction Co. has been given approval to construct septic tanks on lots fronting Dismal and Lovejoy rds., following a conference of all interested town boards last week.

Acting town manager Victor Mill Jr. called the session to discuss the pros and cons of allowing the firm to tie in some houses to the Ballardvale sewer, or putting in septic tanks. Building Inspector Ernest N. Hall had held up issuance of the permits, pending clarification of what appeared to be contradictory decisions by

POURING IT ON — Members of the Fire Department, close by the raging fire in the formaldehyde plant at Reichhold Chemical Co. in Lowell Junction, were in constant danger from small explosions within the structure and the possibility that a tank of methylene in the rear of the building might explode with great force. When there was enough water, the hose on the aerial ladder quickly poured thousands of gallons of water onto the burning tower. (Leone)

Rally To Aid Fire-Stricken Firm

Town and state officials rallied to the support of the Reichhold

Chemical Co. this week, following Monday night's spectacular $150,000 fire at the Lowell Junction plant.

Chairman Eugene A. Bernardin Jr. of the Board of Selectmen, with acting town manager Victor Mill Jr., offered all possible official cooperation with the firm; while members of the Industrial and Development Commission promptly volunteered to assist the company in any way. Secretary Joseph Doherty and member Wallace M. Haselton were in touch with the firm early Tuesday.

A representative of the State Department of Commerce also visited the plant Tuesday, bringing the state agency's offer of help.

While friendly offers of aid were being made, Fire Chief Henry L. Hilton was continuing his investigation of the cause of the two-alarm blaze. A representative of the State Fire Marshall is assisting in the query.

Hall Agrees It's Opinion

Selectman Edward P. Hall agreed, Monday night, that it was his "opinion" that a statement made last week concerning the Board of Health being uncooperative with other towns boards was based on fact.

He had been challenged to either justify the statement or apologize for it, by Richard McKallagat, a member of the Board of Health during the period when Hall said it had not cooperated.

Hall insisted that it was his opinion that the facts bore out his charges, while McKallagat told the Board he wanted it clearly understood that this was an opinion, not a statement of fact.

Addressing the Selectmen, McKallagat said he believes the Board "owes it to me" to tell the

School Bands In Joint Concert

The All-Girl Band, jointly with the Phillips Academy Band, will offer a spring concert April 18 in Memorial Auditorium.

This is the first time that the two school bands have performed together.

Members of the Band Parents' Association will serve a supper to members of both musical organizations prior to the concert and will sponsor a private dance, following the affair. Mrs. Paul Simeone is chairman of the supper committee, assisted by many of the mothers. Mrs. Donald Bassett and Mrs. John Reilly are co-chairmen of the dance committee.

The public concert is being held to raise funds for the pur-

Rogers Brook Foul-Up Looms

The future of Rogers Brook reconstruction looks gloomy this week, as the state has verbally suggested doing only part of the job, but using most of the money.

Acting town manager Victor Mill Jr., hearing a report on the state's suggestion, commented that the town probably has no authority to enter into such an agreement, even if it seemed practical.

Water Supt. Donald Bassett said the state has proposed doing a section from the River to Main st., at an estimated total cost of $200,000. This would result in the town spending $100,000 of $175,000 voted for the brook work, matching an equal amount from the state.

Then, the report continued, if the state funds become available

Since a special grant from the United Fund has made possible a new staff member at the YWCA, expansion of the program into the communities is under way.

An Andover committee of volunteers, whose chairman is Mrs. Ralph Hill, has worked with the YWCA staff members and has set up a program which will begin Thursday morning, April 9, at the Phillips Alumnae House on School st. Considering the needs of the community at the present time, the committee has planned the program for young mothers, offering classes of interest and at the same time of Kiddie Park for children of pre-school age. However, other women will be welcome too. Classes included in the program are trimmastics, beginners and intermediate bridge, flower arranging and charm. HAD $11,500 ESTATE

Estimated value of the estate of Mrs. Clara Michaud of Andover is $11,500, it was revealed when her will was filed in the Registry of Probate. She died Feb. 11, having signed the document Feb. 7, 1950.

Realty on Topping rd., was left to a son, Claude Michaud, and to a daughter, Mrs. Eva Lasonde of Andover, who was nominated as the executrix. Realty on Juliet rd., was given to Claude or his heirs, as was the residue of the property.

The probate petition did not list him among the next-of-kin, who are five other children, Mrs. Lasonde, Mrs. Aurore Demers and Arthur Michaud, both of Lawrence, Raymond Michaud of Methuen, and Mrs. Marie Anne Roux of Andover, and a grandson, Roger Michaud of Methuen.

Great Books Discussion

The next meeting of the Great Books Discussion group is to be held at the Memorial Hall Library Tuesday evening, March 31, at 7:45 o'clock. The reading is Goethe's "Faust", part 1.

Films Available

The following films will be available to groups for free use for the dates indicated: April 1-30, "Watercolor and Printers Ink", 30 minutes, color (this film describes in detail the rotogravure and offset processes, and is of special value to those interested in color printing); April 5-June 15, three color travel films on Canadian subjects - "The Coho Salmon On The Fly", 11 minutes, which shows salmon fishing in British Columbia and the correct flies and tackle to be used; "Spirit Of Algonquin", 20 minutes, showing outdoor life at some of the many camps in Algonquin Park; "Wild-life In The Rockies", 14 minutes of the fascinating world of nature in Banff and Jasper National Parks. April 6-10 there will be an art film "Bespoke Overcoat", based on a short story by Gogo. From April 6-17 there will be a ten-minute color film "Scotland: Background Of Literature", which shows many of the actual spots mentioned in the literary trip which the viewer takes to the rugged country of the Scots. There will be two good films from April 13-17. The first, "Helen Keller", runs for 45 minutes; it shows how one of the world's greatest figures has lived from birth to the age of 76, overcoming what seem insuperable handicaps. The other, "Shyness", runs for 23 minutes; it demonstrates how teacher, psychiatrist and parents can work together to bring about a change in the attitudes of excessively shy children.

All films may be borrowed without charge. For those groups lacking projection equipment, the library will loan its screen and projector, with the only cost being for the trained projectionist who will take charge of the machine and the showing of the film.

Found Guilty Of "Operating Under"

Gerard Bradford Jr., 40, 281 South Main st., was fined $45 for operating while under the influence of liquor and complaints of drunkenness and failing to stop after colliding with a traffic light standard, following a hearing in Lawrence District Court, March 19, before Judge John J. Darcy.

Represented by Atty. Raymond M. Sullivan, the defendant pleaded not guilty.

Patrolman William Tammany testified that on Feb. 27 at 12:20 a.m. he was one of the investigating officers of an accident in which a flashing yellow light standard at Main and Wheeler sts. had been demolished.

He testified that about a quarter of a mile south of the scene on Main street they observed an automobile with the left front badly damaged and the defendant standing beside the car. He said the man was unsteady on his feet.

Patrolman Duncan Cairnie corroborated this statement.

Sgt. James Lynch said he detailed the cruiser to investigate and when the defendant was returned to the station he asked him what he had to drink and was informed that he had taken a couple of drinks at a dinner party.

He explained hitting the light standard by saying it was poor judgment on his part. He agreed that the defendant gave responsible answers and that he had no trouble understanding him.

Bradford testified that he went out to dinner about 7 p.m. at a private home, and left about midnight. He said he had two martinis before dinner and a "pony" of brandy after dinner. After he left the house, he said, he was several hundred feet from the light when a dog appeared and he swung to avoid hitting the dog and hit the light.

After the accident, he said, he saw no one around and thought it best to continue on to his own home about a half mile away to notify police from there. He said the reason he did not stay at the scene was because he had no overcoat and it was cold. He said he was able to travel only 400 to 500 yards before clutch trouble caused him to stop.

He said he flagged the officers down when they came along. He told the court that because of the smell of liquor on his breath, the officers assumed he was under the influence but he denied this and said he was surprised when he was arrested.

He told the court that he was bailed out shortly after 1:30 a.m. Questioned by Sergeant Hickey about the hazard of leaving the broken light standard lying across the road, he said he did not see where the pole fell.

Mrs. James MacMillan of Bannister rd., Ballardvale, was pleasantly surprised last Monday evening when friends and relatives tendered her a house warming in her newly built home. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Willard Myers and Miss Blanche Znamierowski.

Seeking Solution To Dead End

Acting Town Manager Mill Jr. was delegating Selectmen Monday some way of solving the problem of picking up dead animals from streets.

After reporting on the problem with the dog and the cat, Sgt. William R. Hickey to consult Police Officer Nicoll on methods of solving the task.

Mill told the Selectmen that he was in every way. He said he had suggested that a person was to be chosen, then he believed not to be a member of the Department. Having been responsible, he interfered with police duty.

At the moment, all he asked to pick up a dead animal was to be nearby.

Mill reported that he would agreeably resign his job of dog officer if that is the Board's wish, or he would also report on the problem of picking up dead animals.

He also pointed out the job description of the post, in the personnel file, not mention any dogs, except dogs. This is something of a question because most of the picked up are cats, other wildlife.

The acting manager of the Board that the dog is in a peculiar position furnished the original of the job to the personnel consultants during a then being challenged doing the job he described.

Seeking Solution To Dead Animals

Acting Town Manager Victor Mill Jr. was delegated by the Selectmen Monday night to find some way of solving the problem of picking up dead animals on the streets.

After reporting on his conversations with the dog officer, Police Sgt. William R. Hickey, Mill agreed to consult Police Chief David Nicoll on methods of handling the task.

Mill told the Selectmen that Sgt. Hickey was very cooperative in every way. He said the sergeant had suggested that, if any one person was to be delegated the chore, then he believes it should not be a member of the Police Department. Having the one person responsible, he felt, would interfere with police duties.

At the moment, all officers may be asked to pick up a dead animal, depending on which cruiser happens to be nearby.

Mill reported that Sgt. Hickey would agreeably relinquish the job of dog officer if that was the Board's wish, or he will continue if that is the Board's desire.

Mill also reported that the job of picking up dead animals has been shuffled around in the past from department to department, but finally wound up in the Police Department's lap.

He also pointed out that the job description of the dog officer's post, in the personnel by-law, does not mention any dead animals except dogs. This might create something of a question, he stated, because most of the animals picked up are cats, skunks and other wildlife.

The acting manager also told the Board that the dog officer is in a peculiar position of having furnished the original description of the job to the personnel board's consultants during an interview, then being challenged about not doing the job he described.

On the last day a museum trip and convocation with presentation of certificates are scheduled at the Museum of Fine Arts, and parents and teachers are invited to attend.

Two awards were offered to each participating high school and private school, and juniors and seniors were selected by their own art teachers. This big Series 60 Chevy bulls its way as far as 8 miles into the Louisiana woods, fights over ruts and jagged stumps . . . then grinds back out with towering loads of logs! International Folk Festival In Lawrence April 11

For the first time in seven years the International Institute of Lawrence will once again present one of its colorful International Folk Festivals. In the past, these highly anticipated annual fiestas were given in Andover and were considered one of the most interesting and unusual events of the season. This year, with the aid of many Andover residents, the Folk Festival will take place at the Central Catholic Auditorium in Lawrence Saturday, April 11, from 8 to 12.

One of the feature attractions of the fiesta will be the nationality booths that will surround the entire hall. Mrs. Joseph V. Galini is chairman of the booth committee and she will be assisted by Mrs. Wolf Berthold and Mrs. Alexander Wilson as well as by many members of the nationality groups through the greater Lawrence area. These booths, representing such countries as Greece, Germany, Hungary, Israel, Japan, Russia, Poland, Italy, Armenia, Lithuania and of course, America, will serve unusual, but traditional, foods and beverages of these countries.

In addition to this there will be general dancing to the orchestra of Frankie Kahn, plus a period of entertainment under the chairmanship of Mrs. Dean K. Webster Jr. and Gaspar Jako, executive director of the Institute. This entertainment will consist of the gay dances and music of still many other nationality groups in their colorful costumes.

Dr. Nina Scarito and Joseph Choquette are general co-chairmen and they are being assisted, among others, by Mrs. Jaap Vandenbergh, Mrs. B. Allan Rowland, Mrs. Robert Richmond and Mrs. C. James Kirtledge on tickets; Mrs. C. Edward Buchan, hostesses; Mrs. Alfred W. Fuller and Mrs. W. Gilman Low, publicity; Mrs. Peter Dantos, Greek booth; and Mrs. Gaspar Jako, Hungarian booth.

Dress for the general public at this affair is optional, although many of those working at the nationality booths will be in the traditional costumes of their native countries and any guests who wish to appear in similar dress would be more than welcome. The International Institute is a United Fund agency that serves as a helping hand to all newcomers and refugees in the area as well as a bridge of understanding between this country and the old world.

LEWIS RE-ELECTED TO HEAD CLUB

A meeting of the Merrimack Valley-North Shore Norwich University club took place recently at the Hawthorne Hotel in Salem, and officers were elected. In recognition of its fine leadership during the past year, the entire slate of officers was re-elected. They include the following: president, Ellsworth H. Lewis of Andover, vice president, Joseph R. O'Brien of Andover, secretary, Norman L. Heald of Lawrence, treasurer, George E. Crane of Methuen.

Pandolph Held For Grand Jury

Following a number of continuances in his case since he was picked up in Andover last Sept. 29 and charged with breaking and entering a building in the day time, Peter J. Pandolph Jr., 12 Center st., Woburn, was given a hearing in Lawrence District court last week on a not guilty plea and Judge John J. Darcy found probable cause to bind him over to the grand jury. Bail of $1,000 was supplied.

Sgt. William R. Hickey prosecuted and told the court that the continuances had been granted to allow police an opportunity to pick up a second defendant in the case, also a Woburn resident. He stated that though repeated attempts had been made to apprehend the man, he could not be found.

Charles W. West of Rattlesnake Hill rd., testified that he returned home unexpectedly about 11 a.m. Sept. 29 to pick up some staging stock and noticed a black auto in his driveway, backed up to his house. He said he drove in to block off the car and as he did so Pandolph ran from the car and went over a wall, being apprehended about a mile away. Police were notified and made the arrest. He estimated that some $400 in tools, rifles, shotguns and household goods had been taken from the house. They were returned to him.

Sgt. Hickey testified to responding to the call with Patrolmen William Tammany and Calvin Deyermund and that the auto was listed to Harold J. Costello, 141 Spring court extension, Woburn. He said that Pandolph had identified Costello as being there with him.

He quoted Pandolph as saying that he had not gone to work that day because of lack of transportation and had been around Woburn square when Costello picked him up. He said they went looking for work in Wilmington and then drove around. He fell asleep for a while until they came to Rattlesnake Hill rd. There, the sergeant quoted Pandolph as saying, they stopped while Costello went back to the West home. On his return, he told Pandolph that no one was home and he was going in.

Sgt. Hickey told the court that Pandolph said he did not go into the house after entrance was gained by a key found there. He remained outside and placed the articles in the car as they were taken out of the house by Costello. These articles included a power saw valued at $75; a carpenter's tool box, $125; mechanic's tools, $40; four guns valued at $225; all amounting to $468.

He said that Pandolph made the statement that he didn't realize he was involved until he was in the yard and then saw nothing else to do but go along with the plan.

The defendant was represented by Atty. Joseph Garrasi of Woburn.

Borrows Money At Low Interest

The Merrimack Valley National Bank was the low bidder on a loan in anticipation of tax revenue to the town.

The low interest rate was given 1.57 percent of the $250,000 borrowed. The money is due Sept. 30. The interest rate is one of the lowest given a town in the last six months, according to Town Treasurer Anna M. Greeley.

Other rates given were Bay State Merchants National Bank, 1.65 percent; Arlington Trust Company, 1.67; Boston Safe Deposit and Trust, 1.76; Second Bank State Street Trust Company, 1.77. Received after closing time for bids was the Merchants National Bank, Boston, 1.72.

Dead Animals A Problem

Laughter reached a peak when someone asked: "Can the dog officer pick up a dead cat?"

But this question, funny as it may seem, actually hits squarely on a problem facing the town, for which no satisfactory solution has been found.

A year or two ago, there was considerable buck-passing on this subject, with the Board of Health, Board of Public Works and Police Department figuratively passing the dead cats back and forth. No one wants to pick up the dead carcasses that occasionally litter the streets, whether they be dogs, cats, skunks or other wildlife. And we don't blame them a bit. It's a messy job.

In recent months, it appears that the Police Department has been getting the task, with various officers doing the dirty work, depending on which cruiser happens to be nearest the dead animal. The dog officer has picked up some while on duty as an officer, but has not considered this his primary responsibility as dog officer.

Sgt. William R. Hickey, who receives $325 yearly for the post, says the major work is in making certain that licenses are obtained for dogs, and in checking cases of dog bites. It was never his understanding, he states, that picking up dead dogs was part of the job.

The Personnel By-Law, in its job description section, says picking up dead dogs is part of the job. But it doesn't mention cats and other victims.

And there are many of the latter to be picked up, possibly in for greater numbers than the dead canines.

Thus, even if by literal enforcement of the by-law, the dog officer is forced to pick up dead dogs, it still won't solve the problem of a much-run-over cat or skunk.

Basically, the whole business is messy and disagreeable.

Officers in uniform must despise the task. And of course the cruisers are not designed for this sort of dead animal taxi service either.

Men in the public works department do not work 24 hours a day, thus any demands on them to do this job might run into overtime.

The Board of Health does not have any truck, nor employees, who can do the job.

Perhaps one of these days a decision will be reached, and it might better be done now than later.

For the job will be a messy one, no matter who does it. And until there is some clarification on the subject, residents will still be a little confused about where to call and all the involved parties will continue to grumble that it is someone else's job. Maybe the acting town manager can set the responsibility, with the approval of the Selectmen.

Interference Not Allowed

It's readily apparent that the permanent town manager, whoever he may be, will face many tough problems in his first few months.

Not the least of these will be the development of a plan for capital expenditures — a study that, more and more, becomes vital to the orderly progress of the community. In past weeks various municipal officials have suggested delaying this, or that, action until such a plan is prepared.

And while we are fully in sympathy with waiting for the manager to develop a plan, we also can see the tremendous work load this will impose on the man during a period when he is least familiar with the community and its problems.

That's why it is imperative to find the best possible man for the job, then leave him alone to do his job. There will be so much to do in the general, day-to-day operation of the government, plus these additional burdens of responsibility, that interference in his work will seriously hamper it.

Thus we are in complete accord with those who feel that Selectmen must, once the man is on the job, leave him alone as far as administrative activities are concerned. A manager will function best if he does not have one or more Selectmen hovering around during the busy days ahead. They will be able to help him most by reserving their comments and their enthusiasm for meeting nights when matters of policy will be discussed and decided.

Study Group Is Worthwhile

The School Committee's idea of appointing a group to study the need for a new elementary school is a good one — for such an independent study should give tax-weary townspeople an opportunity to find out just how badly the new building is needed.

The discussion to date centers around the West Andover area as the location of such a building — but there also has been some mention in recent years that new schools will be needed in the Elm st. and So. Main st. areas. Among many other factors, the new highways will have some bearing on the West Andover need, along with population growth.

It's important for the voters to know, well before any town meeting request is made, just how badly the new school is needed, and where it will do the most good. It might also be a good idea for a study group to set up a time schedule for construction, guiding the town in planning for the next few years. Will there be a need for still more schools, after the one that is now contemplated? How soon must they be constructed and what will they cost?

These are all questions that forward-looking townspeople will want answered before putting up money for plans. Thus the suggestion that a group be appointed is a good one, providing, of course, that the persons appointed to do the studying start off with open minds, are provided with all the pertinent information, and are representative enough of the town's population so that the report will not be weighted one way or another because of the committee members' economic or educational background.

Down the Years

50 Years Ago — March, 1909
Andrew McTernan has sold his house on Elm st. to Mrs. Kate Blanchard.

Richard Hodnett is substituting for mail carrier Frank MacDonald, while the latter recovers from an illness.

Frank Amoro has returned from his home in Nova Scotia, and has entered the employ of William Doherty.

A new pair of horses were bought for the fire department by the Selectmen last week, in Boston.

Winslow S. Knowles has bought, from William M. Wood, the house on Punchard ave. now occupied by Mr. Knowles.

Jesse B. Hawley, Dartmouth, 1909, has been retained as football coach at Phillips Academy.

Graduation honors were announced at Punchard High School this week. First honor went to Miss Mira Bigelow Wilson; second, Charlotte Emma Thomas; third, Edith Hartnett Johnson; fourth, Mary Palmer Jenkins. The whole town was saddened by the death in recent weeks of Miss Thomas.

25 Years Ago — March, 1934

A Lowell boy, a member of the CCC Camp here, was fatally injured by a hit and run driver early Tuesday morning. A truck driver found the body in the roadway, near Wildwood rd., about 3 a.m. and reported to police immediately. There has been no trace of the offending vehicle and authorities theorize that the boy may have been run over several times by cars travelling along So. Main st. under foggy conditions.

The town lost two of its faithful employees this week. Price one of the last remaining pair of horses at work in the public works department, was shot to put him out of his misery. And Jerry, age 20, has been retired to the Nevins Farm in Methuen. Hereafter, horses will be hired if needed to pull the sidewalk plow, and trucks will be used exclusively by the department in its day-to-day work.

The Selectmen will pay all elected officials, despite a statement to the Townsman from a state official that the pays can not be granted until a special town meeting specifically establishes a rate for each official.

The government has approved spending $112,700 here for the new junior high, auditorium and gymnasium. This represents 20 percent of the estimated total cost of the project.

The annual Easter egg hunt will be held at the Guild at 10 a.m. tomorrow morning. The sounding of notes on a bugle will start the hunt.

The Andover Parent Teacher Association met Wednesday, with members seeing an exhibit of hobbies that may be developed by parents for their youngsters.

10 Years Ago — March, 1934

A Methuen taxi driver has reported to police that he was robbed, at gun point, on the By-Pass Wednesday afternoon. According to the story he told police, he had picked up a passenger in Lawrence, and while riding between Salem st. and the state police barracks, the passenger pulled a gun and demanded the driver's money and watch. He got some $65, plus the timepiece. The driver said he was then forced to drive to the North Station in Boston, where the passenger ran off into the crowd. Police later found an overcoat with a toy pistol in the pocket abandoned outside the station.

Some 1,241 chest x-rays were taken at the Shawsheen Mills this past week, as part of the campaign to find cases of tuberculosis. Reports on the x-rays will be available within a few weeks.

Water service was restored Tuesday in the 16-inch main running across the Shawsheen River. The BPW said a boulder was resting on the main at the place it broke.

The state department of public utilities has allowed a telephone rate boost that includes hiking the cost of toll calls to Lawrence 10 cents.

The third 3-year term of Atty. Walter Tomlinson as trial justice will expire April 10. There is considerable speculation that Atty. Richard Gordon will be appointed to the office by Gov. Paul A. Dever. There is no appeal in the town for the court to sit and most cases go to Lawrence for trial. The justice sits only occasionally and is paid at the rate of $750 per year.

United Appeal For Access

A three-town united appeal to the state for an access to Route 93 at Lowell Junction is in the immediate future, following a meeting of officials of the towns Monday night.

Tewksbury, Wilmington and Andover will jointly request the change in plans, on the grounds that valuable industrial land in all three communities can be opened for use if the request is granted.

The importance to the state, as a whole, of making industrial sites available will be emphasized in the discussions with state officials.

Even as the towns go forward with the formation of a smaller steering committee to plan the appeal, representatives from Tewksbury have received still another refusal from the state on this same subject.

Joseph Whalen, chairman of the Board of Selectmen in the neighboring community, read several letters from the state, all citing reasons why the access road can not be constructed.

Basically, the reasons break down into a lack of traffic from the area onto the highway, and the distance between interchanges. The cloverleaf at Dascomb rd. and another in Wilmington are close enough together, the state believes, so that an access in between would be superfluous.

Despite the state's arbitrary stand, the three towns will move ahead with their planning. Selectman Philip K. Allen has been designated by the local Board to call the next meeting of the smaller group. He had suggested to the session that the best reason to offer the state is the possible tax relief to the commonwealth, as well as to the communities, from opening up the land for industry. Andover has some 600 acres in the Lowell Junction area, Tewksbury has a considerable acreage adjoining it, and Wilmington also has some industrial land that would profit from an access there.

As the lone representative from Wilmington, Nicholas DeFelice told the meeting that some day there may be some consideration given to a Chapter 90 road in the area, that could connect with an interchange in Wilmington, less than a mile away. He suggested that, while the proposed access in Lowell Junction is important, it should be remembered that the state has turned down this request several times. Thus, he continued, the towns will have to provide a better reason than those already given, or fail in the attempt.

One Tewksbury representative several times recalled that there had not always been unanimous agreement on the interchange in Lowell Junction. He said he believed that Andover, at one hearing, supported the Dascomb rd. interchange in preference to the junction. And there also was a letter read to the meeting which indicated the Andover Selectmen had declined to take further initiative towards requesting the Lowell Junction location, at some later date.

However, the men felt that, whatever had happened before, there now could be no harm done in making a united appeal for the access.

Tewksbury Selectmen pointed out that they even presented a petition to the state, signed by over 1,000 residents, asking for the highway. But this was not given any better treatment than other requests, they said.

One of the participants recalled that a state engineer once told a meeting that the industries come after the roads are in, and that the roads are not built to attract business.

Others remarked that, in the case of land-locked areas such as those in Lowell Junction, there is a need for a road before the businesses can be attracted.

Consideration was also given at the meeting Monday to the expansion plans by Reichhold Chemical Co. in the Junction.

That firm has tentative plans to expand its production facilities, and is considering location of a central laboratory here.

ROGERS BROOK FOUL-UP LOOMS

by the time this portion is almost completed, the remainder of the project could be done.

However, the $75,000 remaining out of the original appropriation would not be enough to pay for half of the second section and thus it would mean either asking the town for more money or not doing the job at all.

Bassett pointed out that the section which badly needs assistance is the second portion, even though it is essential to get the portion from the River to Main st. done first. He explained that the second section, from Main st. up through the park, is where the damage is done and where the residents have many complaints about flooding in their cellars.

Another rough spot in the planning, according to Bassett, is a promise of a little extra assistance from the state.

He explained that officials had agreed verbally to put up some extra money, up to $50,000, if the complete job ran that much over the present capacity to pay.

Thus, if the full job had been bid at $400,000, the town would have paid its $175,000 and the state would have paid the extra money.

Under present proposals, the town will lose the benefit of this offer.

Mr. Mill, after listening to the report, suggested that the state be asked to put its ideas in a letter, but he also suggested that the town will probably have no authority to agree to such a course of action.

UNITED CHURCH GUILD MET

The regular meeting of the Ballard Vale United Church Guild was held last Thursday evening in the vestry with the president, Mrs. Ralph Sharpe, presiding.

OPEN HOUSE

A very delightful "Open House" was held last Saturday afternoon from 3-6 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Stewart of High Plain rd., honoring their son and his bride, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Stewart. Many friends and relatives called during the afternoon to greet the couple and extend congratulations. Dainty refreshments were served by Mrs. Stewart.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bronson of Chandler rd., are enjoying a winter vacation at the Emerald Beach Hotel in the Bahamas.

Mrs. Nora Pidgeon of York st. has been vacationing at the Royal Victoria in Nassau and also in Miami, Fla.

Mrs. Helen Shannon of Shaw-shen rd. recently attended the joint meeting of Boston University and Harvard College Chapters of Pi Lambda Delta Kappa.

Jr. Red Cross Very Active

High School members of the Junior Red Cross will entertain the patients at the Tewksbury State institution next week with a variety show of their own devising. Genevieve Lampariello is chairman of the talented group who will present songs, comic acts, and music of the saxophone and electric guitar for an hour Wednesday afternoon. The participants include Susan Mulvey, Terry Sweeney, Edward Joiner, Gale Smeltzer, Barbara Greenlow, Judith and Janet Murray and Charles Barret.

The Junior Red Cross is one of the most active branches of the Andover Red Cross, and is, indeed, one of the best organized in the state, thanks to the chairman, Mrs. Allen A. Falton; her assistant, Mrs. Harold Nadler; the student chairman, Linda Johanson, and many teacher sponsors. In the workshop, boys are making cribbage boards and ping pong paddles for the veterans at Bedford hospital. Mr. Grigoli is taking a singing group to St. Anne's Orphanage and the Nevins Home in April. The Junior High School members are making Easter cards to send to patients at the Childrens Hospital and the House of the Good Samaritan, as they have made and sent Christmas Cards, valentines, and St. Patrick's Day greetings. They are also producing posters and wall hangings for holidays at the Bedford Veterans Hospital. From an essay contest on "Why I want to write to a Pen Pal", 10 members will be chosen to correspond with Junior Red Cross members abroad.

Insurance Group Studying Proposals

Representatives of the Town Employees' Association serving on the Insurance Committee, studying health and life insurance for the employees, are Albert Cole Jr., president of the organization; Fire Chief Henry L. The members are currently discussing various proposals with the committee appointed by the Selectmen to give advice on this and other insurance coverage for the town. Members of that group are Douglas Howe, James D. Doherty, Richard Lally and George

It was an opinion of one member, not a fact. He claimed that his reputation was damaged and his integrity questioned, when Hall made the original statement in an open Board meeting, without justifying it as an opinion. And McKallagat went on to suggest that he did not object to being left off the Board of Health but he didn't like being retired "in a cloud of doubt".

Hall said his reference to the Board of Health came because the Board of Public Works had voted to allow the Realty Company to tie into the Hallandale sewer, but the Board of Health had permitted septic tank installations. Hall said this was a lack of cooperation, resulting from the Board of Health's viewpoint that it was supposed to decide these questions, not the BPH.

Hall explained his belief that the firm should be made to enter the sewer, and he insisted that the expense later on, as a result of the septic tank approval.

McKallagat refuted the argument, pointing out that a joint meeting of various officials and boards just last week had borne out the Board of Health's position. At the meeting, it was decided to allow the septic tanks, on the basis that engineering reports show the capacity of the sewer plant will be reached when existing houses in the Vale tie into it. The number of homes that could be sewered from this line also came under consideration.

McKallagat told the Selectmen that Sewer Supt. Donald Bassett claimed the town does not plan on sewer lines for areas in the one acre lot zone, because there is ample room for proper tanks and leaching fields. He then pointed out that the area now questioned along Dascomb and Lovejoy rds. is in the 40,000 square foot zone, barely under an acre.

Hall said he had never read a sewer report on the area, but based his judgment on his knowledge of conditions from having lived in the section and from his construction business.

A request from McKallagat that the full Board of Selectmen make a finding as to whether this was a matter of opinion, or a blunt statement of fact, was sidetracked when Mr. Hall included the statement that it was his opinion that he had stated facts.

McKallagat stressed that he had no argument with the full Board, only Mr. Hall. The statements attributed to Mr. Hall last week concerned the Board of Health's lack of cooperation and his feeling that the members should be replaced.

Bible Clubs To Visit Patients

Randolph, Cole, and Sheltering Arms Nursing homes will be visited Saturday, March 28, by the Shawsheen and Johnson Acre Bible Clubs.

Boys and girls of both clubs will meet at the home of Mrs. William Watson, leader of the Shawsheen Bible Club, 68 Magnolia ave., at 11 o'clock, before leaving on this visiting tour.

Each lady is to be presented with a small Easter cheer basket which the children of these two clubs have been working on for the past two weeks. Each child has contributed in some small way toward the filling for these cheer greetings. Hymns are to be sung by the group at each of the nursing homes.

All Fords have full-depth springing all the way across the back seat . . . and your feet aren't cramped in a Ford as they are in so many other low-priced cars.

IT'S BUILT FOR SAVINGS

You can save up to $1.00 a tankful because Ford's standard engines thrive on regular gas. Fords only require oil changes each 4000 miles. Ford's Diamond Lustre Finishes never need waxing. GETS APPROVAL FOR SEPTIC TANK USE town agencies.

The Board of Public Works, before it went out of existence, had voted to allow the firm to tie in some 26 houses to the existing sewers in the Vale, after receiving a report from Camp, Dresser and McKee, the consulting engineers. Then the Board of Health gave provisional approval to the use of septic tanks, stating that the capacity of the Ballardvale Sewage treatment plant would not be sufficient to receive the new homes, after all present homes tie into the system.

The meeting last Wednesday night produced a thorough discussion of the subject, with Board of Health Chairman Robert Walsh explaining that there are 27 homes, which can be tied into the sewer system, which will have to do so eventually. This will bring the plant to its capacity, he explained. It was brought out that the contractors, rather than having a preference, merely want to be told definitely whether to use septic tanks, or tie into the sewer line. The cost would be about the same, the meeting was told.

Although the present group of permits numbers only 10, it is known that the firm has frontage lots over 30 in number. But Building Inspector Hall felt that a precedent would be established when a decision was made on the 10 permits in question.

Hall also told the meeting that he had to shut down the start of construction on one house, because the contractor started before the permits were issued.

Water-Sewer Supt. Donald Bassett, in answer to questions from Mr. Mill, said he believes a proposed trunk sewer in the particular area, shown on the sewer survey plans, is quite in the future, with several other lines receiving priority.

Mr. Walsh said his Board can see no reason why properly installed septic tanks and leeching fields will not be satisfactory in the area. He recalled that there are adequate provisions in the law to prevent repetition of sewage conditions in the town, which resulted in the nearly-emergency installation of sewers because septic tanks were not functioning properly.

The meeting also heard a brief statement on the firm's plans in the Dascomb-Lovejoy rd. area — an intent to build 10 to 20 houses this year and test the demand. It was assumed that the company will build as quickly as the demand calls for, developing the backland when needed. The firm has land enough for well over 100 houses in sub-divisions.

Verbal OK For Variance

Verbal permission to make additions to the present plant was given to Reichhold Chemicals Inc. Thursday night, March 19, by the Zoning Board of Appeals following a public hearing at which there was no opposition to the proposed expansion plans.

Dr. A. L. Wooten and Atty. Richard C. Simmers appeared before the board and explained that the expansion is necessary for increased production at the firm situated in the Lowell Junction area. Manufacturing and storage area is planned for the addition presented to the board Thursday night.

The company had to come before the zoning board due to the proposed expansion being less than the required distance from adjoining lot lines.

Speaking as a representative of the Industrial Development Commission, Harold Haller asked the board to look favorably upon the petition. He said that Reichhold is the type of industry that is good for Andover and that the firm is growing. He said fast action and granting of the petition may have an influence on other industry contemplating building in Andover.

Planning Board Chairman Donald G. Thompson also spoke both as a member of that Board and of the Industrial Commission, in favor of the chemical company's proposal.

Atty. Joseph F. Bacigalupo of the Board of Appeals said he had no objection to the addition and Atty. Alfred W. Fuller, chairman, also informed the group that he had no objections, but that a written decision could not be given for at least another week or more.

The opinions were given in order that Dr. Wooten could present the plans and have the approval to present to the officials of his firm to get the proposed construction underway as soon as possible.

Other petitions heard by the board included those of Louis and Mildred C. Spector for a variance to allow two house lots at 24 Washington ave., Lorenzo J. Bibeau permission to erect a third dwelling on a lot at 27 River rd. and Hazel G. Wilson, to convert a single family to a two family dwelling at 7 Avon st. These were taken under advisement.

2 Big Projects Among Permits

Two major commercial projects were represented in the building permits issued for February by Building Inspector Ernest N. Hall.

Gustave A. Schlott was given a permit, with an estimated value of $130,000, for the construction of a super market and cleaning shop on Main st.

Woodworth Motors Inc. received its permit to build a sales showroom in Shawshen, estimated value of $35,000.

Other permits were issued to Joseph T. Nigrelli, dwelling and garage on Magnolia ave., value of $10,000; and to Joseph Vartabedian, Bellevue rd., summer house for farm help, $600.

The Inspector also gave an elevator operator's license to Francis Atade of Methuen and issued a permit to Joseph Vartabedian of Bellevue rd. to raise a shed.

$18,000 Award For Land

Mrs. Myrtle P. Jaques, 44 High st., plaintiff in a land damage suit against the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, was awarded $18,000 by a jury in Superior Civil Court. The jury deliberated two hours before returning its verdict.

The suit was a petition for assessment of damages by the jury for two parcels of land on Lowell st. owned by Mrs. Jaques, which were seized by the Commonwealth Dec. 4, 1956 and May 28, 1957, for highway development.

A total of land was taken in both seizures. The land was seized in connection with the construction of the relocated Route 28 and the construction of an access road at the junction of Route 33 and 28 in the westerly section of Andover.

Atty. Donald Grant of Boston represented Mrs. Jaques and Assistant Attorney General Domenico J. Alfano appeared for the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

11:05 p.m., with all off-duty men responding. The fire departments of No. Reading, Tewksbury and No. Andover soon arrived at the fire, while other apparatus from No. Andover covered the central station in case of another alarm.

Deputy Murnane said the interior of the formaldehyde plant was a mass of flames when he first arrived, while flames leapt high into the air.

No Injuries

For the first few minutes, firefighters were hampered by a lack of water pressure in the six-inch main serving the area. When the pumps were put into service at the Haggett's Pond pumping station, additional water was forced into the section. Hoses also were dropped into the Shawheen River, pulling up vast quantities of water from that source.

When water became available, a fire hose attached to the top of the aerial ladder was used to pour water onto the flaming tower. Weakened timbers crashed to the roof below during the process, but no one was injured.

Despite the late hour and the remote section of the community, many persons gathered to witness the fire fighting. Police kept everyone but fire officials well away from the building, fearing chemical explosions.

Assigned to the detail were Officers, Hector Patullo, Duncan Cairnie, Jacob Jacobson and Henry Giamo. Sgt. Raymond Collins also was at the scene.

The fire was under control within an hour after the firefighters reached the scene, but they remained for several hours, to be sure the fire was out.

Chief Hilton quickly inspected a storage room, where employees of the firm said they first saw flames. It was in that section of the structure that some firefighters literally turned green. Some form of dye was stored there, which turned everything it touched a bright green. Deputy Chief Albert Cole Jr. was almost literally covered with the substance when he returned to the station with some of the off-duty men. Deputy Chief John Cole, also helped direct the firefighting operations.

Tried To Put It Out

Employees reported that they tried to fight the fire when they first discovered it, and thought for a moment that they might be successful. But one man said just as they appeared to be winning the fight, the flames raced along a methanol pipe which stretched out over the roof of the manufacturing unit.

On hand at the scene was Plant Supt. William DeHart and Plant Engineer Robert Hatton. Division Manager Dr. A. L. Wooten was in New York early this week, talking over details of the company's proposed expansion of manufacturing facilities in Lowell Junction. He was notified of the fire by telephone about midnight.

Earlier Monday evening, the Selectmen had met with their counterparts from Tewksbury and Wilmington and agreed to once again ask the state to construct an interchange at Lowell Junction. Reichhold's expansion, and the proposal that the firm may locate a central research laboratory here, were much under discussion at that session.

At the scene of the fire Monday night, in addition to all officers of the local department, were Chiefs William Chandler of Tewksbury and Harold Conron of No. Reading. Chief James P. Daw of the No. Andover Fire Department responded, with his men, to the central station.

Selectmen Bernardin, Philip K. Allen and William Stewart were present at the scene, as was water Supt. Donald Bassett.

The Electric Co. also was on hand, cutting electric power to the buildings, which was later restored.

Financial IQ Test At Andover Savings

People who drop in at the Andover Savings Bank during the next two weeks will have an excellent opportunity to test their financial IQ, states Louis S. Finger, president of the institution.

Mr. Finger recently announced that an interesting educational exhibit, furnished by the Savings Banks Association of Mass., will be on display in the bank's main office at 61 Main st. this week and next.

The operation of the exhibit, which allows for public participation is simple. Anyone wishing to "have a go" at it must face a battery of nine thought-provoking questions on money matters and banking. Under each question are three different answers, only one of which is correct.

Once the "contestant" has made up his mind as to the right answer to a particular question, he can quickly deflate or inflate his ego by pushing an electrical button directly beneath the answer he has selected. If he is correct, a green light flashes on the back panel — if incorrect, a red signal.

The bank believes that this exhibit will give residents of Andover a chance to learn some interesting facts about savings banking and thrift while having a little fun in the process. Adv.

Discuss Access To Route 114

State Department of Public Works Commissioner Anthony DiNatale met with Lawrence and Andover officials Tuesday afternoon, to discuss the possibility of an access road from Shawsheen Village to Route 114.

The suggested route would start at about York st., go across country past the old filter beds, under the railroad and, when it crosses the Andover line into Lawrence, it would go on the southerly side of Den Rock Park, to Route 114.

Selectman James D. Wilson, Highway Supt. Stanley Chlebowski, Water Supt. Donald Bassett and Public Works office Manager Calvin Metcalf attended the hearing.

From Lawrence, there was Mayor John J. Buckley, Alderman Nicholas Callahan, the city engineer and John O'Malley, director of the city's industrial development committee.

It was estimated that the access road might cost about $350,000 and the possibility of having it declared a federal secondary access road was favorably discussed. Other means of financing the project would include Chapter 90 construction, involving the city of Lawrence and Andover.

The distressing traffic problems in both communities were listed as the most important reasons for building the access road.

Acting Town Manager Victor Mill Jr., hearing a report on the meeting, suggested that it might be quite a long time before plans are definite. And he believed that the town should stand ready to meet again, whenever the state has something further to offer.

Pre-School Seeks Fall Registration

It has been announced by Mrs. Hugh W. Morse, president, that enrollment for next year is now open for the Free Church Co-op Pre-school, which meets four mornings weekly in the Lower Parish Hall of the Free Christian Church.

The church-related, though non-sectarian, school, now nearing the completion of its first year, is Andover's first venture in cooperative education, where both children and parents learn. It is under the direction of Mrs. Thayer Warshaw, assisted daily by mothers of the enrolled children. The fathers join in work parties to build and repair equipment, and all parents participate actively in the school's administration.

The number of pupils is limited to 20, and children enrolling must be four years old by Dec. 31, 1959. Registration forms are available from Mrs. Raymond Durham, 17 Kenilworth st.
